Man, 50, Admits He Killed Parents

Camilo Leyra Says He and Father Had Business Quarrel; Teacup, New Suit Are Cited as Clues

New York, Jan. 14 (AP)—Fifty-year-old Camilo Leyra threw a red rose into his parents' grave, and then detectives led him back to the police station.

A few hours later, they said, he confessed killing both his mother and father with a hammer after a bitter business quarrel.

"Father was a very stubborn man," Leyra's statement read. "I don't know why I killed my mother."

He was charged with homicide last night, ending a four-day mystery of how Mr. and Mrs. Camilo Leyra, Sr., were bludgeoned to death in their six-room Brooklyn apartment last Tuesday.

Leyra's mother was 80; his father was 76.

A teacup and a new suit were the clues that trapped the solidly-built, heavy-jawed son, who lives at North Bergen, N. J.

Detectives found three teacups on the elder Leyro's kitchen table —indicating the presence of a friend or relative rather than outside marauders.

And police found significance in the fact that Leyra wore a new suit and necktie the day of the bloody killing—and couldn't produce the old ones.

He told this story, police said:

He wanted his father to retire from a typewriter and carbon business so the son could take it over with a partner already in the firm. But the elder man refused.

"He said he was going to throw me out of it because I was neglecting the work," Leyra said.

He went to his parents' home Tuesday morning to talk it over and the argument turned into a violent quarrel. Leyra said his father broke it off momentarily to go buy a morning paper, saying he would "come back and settle this thing."

"My mother was sitting at the kitchen sink," Leyra's statement said.

"She was trying to calm me down. She gave me two cups of water to cool me off. A flash came

Immunity Promise Sought For Officials Who Testify

Truman's Program Reported at Stake

Democrats Struggle With Coalition Group for Control of House

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—President Truman's "Fair Deal" program was at stake today in a struggle for control of the House between administration Democrats and a coalition of Republicans and southerners.

The G.O.P.-Dixie team struck the first blow yesterday with a move to restore to the Rules Committee its former power to bottle up House legislation.

While the immediate aim of the southerners is to block action on a bill to end job discrimination, they made clear that they are prepared to join with the Republicans against other major parts of the Truman program if their strategy is successful.

They were confident that it will succeed. Administration leaders were silent but obviously worried.

Directly at issue is a rule pushed through the House last year by administration leaders who felt that too much of their "must" legislation was being stalled in the rules group by Republican-southern teamwork.

Formerly such bills could be jarred loose only by a hard-to-get petition signed by more than half the House members.

The new rule enables committee chairmen to call for a House vote on any bill which has been before the rules group for 21 days. Under that rule, the administration-backed Fair Employment Practices (FEPC) Bill—a key item in Mr. Truman's civil rights program—is due to be voted on in the House, January 23.

But yesterday the coalition forced through the rules committee by a 9 to 2 vote a resolution which, if approved by the House, would knock out the 21-day rule and restore to the committee its former tight grip on legislation.

By restoring to technicalities, Rules Committee Chairman Sabath (D.-Ill.) can block a House vote on the proposed change until after January 23. He indicated to newsmen that he will do that.

That would enable Chairman Lesinski (D.-Mich.) of the Labor Committee to call up the F.E.P.C. bill—if Speaker Rayburn recognizes him.

But there are eight other bills that can be called up the same day under the 21-day rule, and Rayburn—an F.E.P.C. opponent—can recognize some other chairman first.

If that happens, the F.E.P.C. bill will have to wait two more weeks before Lesinski gets another chance. The coalition hopes to change the rules in the meantime—which would leave F.E.P.C. where it is now. Bottled up in the Rules Committee.

Rep. Leo Allen of Illinois, committee Republican, told newsmen abolition of the 21-day rule would save an estimated $5,000,000,000 because bills calling for that much spending just won't be able to win Rules Committee approval.

Some committee members were reported to have voted to do away with the rule because they feared Rep. Rankin (D.-Miss.) might use it to force a vote on a costly administration-opposed veterans bonus measure.

Seize U. S. Property

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—The State Department announced today that the Chinese Communists are seizing U. S. government consular property at Peiping.

Senator Brewster Says He Doesn't Want Any to Get What Denham Did

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—Senator Brewster (R.-Me.) said today top military officials due to testify on Formosa in the Senate should be promised immunity from punishment if they differ with President Truman's policy.

Brewster told reporters he doesn't want military men appearing before the foreign relations committee to get into trouble as did Admiral Louis E. Denfeld. Denfeld was removed as chief of naval operations after he publicly opposed Pentagon policies, but defense chiefs denied that "reprisals" were involved.

The committee yesterday called General Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Secretary of Defense Johnson to testify Jan. 26 on the strategic importance of Formosa.

President Truman has announced that the United States will offer no military aid to the Chinese Nationalists in their effort

Fog Is Clearing in New York Harbor

New York, Jan. 14 (AP)—Air traffic and shipping moved more freely today through a thinning curtain of fog, but hard winds still buffeted Atlantic coastal waters.

Storm warnings were up from Maine to North Carolina, with winds up to 40 miles an hour.

But the milky fog that shrouded New York harbor yesterday, and caused several minor shipping collisions, was clearing.

LaGuardia and New York International Airports, which had been shut down by the murk, resumed operations before dawn, both for incoming and outgoing flights.

Airlines spokesmen, however, said visibility was fluctuating, and might get worse, or better.

It was so bad yesterday that

Government Fights Hard To Save Pre-Trial Hearings

New York, Jan. 14 (AP) — The pre-trial spy hearings for Judith Coplon and Valentin A. Gubitchev go into their seventh week Monday with the federal government fighting hard to save its case against the pair.

During yesterday's hearing Archibald Palmer, Miss Coplon's demonstrative attorney, twitted the F.B.I. about its wiretapping equipment.

F.B.I. Agent Lynn W. Bedford testified that it occasionally broke down—and did so at one of the critical moments in the case. This was the day the brunette government girl was arrested for spying with Gubitchev, a Russian engineer formerly attached to the United Nations.

"This gentleman tells you very sweetly that there was something the matter with the microphone," Palmer jeered.

It was the microphone the F.B.I. had planted in Miss Coplon's office in the Department of Justice building in Washington where she worked until her arrest.

Presumably it should have carried to the ears of the agent the conversation between Miss Coplon and her boss, William E. Foley.

Foley had testified that he handed her a paper that day—March 4, 1949—and told her it was "hot and interesting."

When she was arrested a few hours later in New York with Gubitchev, she carried extracts of the paper in her purse.

Miss Coplon claims Foley told her to take the memos home for a week-end study. A wiretap record of her talk with Foley would either prove or disprove her claim.

She was convicted of spying in an earlier trial in Washington. She and Gubitchev are charged here with conspiring to turn secrets over to the Soviet Union.

Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan has threatened to throw the case out of court unless the government can convince him that its main evidence is not based on wiretapping—which is not legal in federal courts.

G-Man Bedford testified he was listening in that day, but that on that particular morning he could not hear what was being said.

But he claimed this was not unusual because room conversations "were not always distinct and audible."

Agreement Announced By British

Anglo Commonwealth Is Unified on Approach to Most Problems, Is Ceylon Report

Economy Touched

Development Is Given Treatment, Also Peace With Japan

Colombo, Ceylon, Jan. 14 (AP)—The British Commonwealth's foreign ministers ended their conference today and announced their nations still agree on their approach to most foreign problems.

A communique issued after the final conference session said the discussions demonstrated that "among all members of the commonwealth there is a continuing and substantial community of outlook in their approach to current problems of foreign affairs."

The conference agreed also, the communique said, that "there need be no inconsistency" between Britain's policy toward western Europe and the "maintenance of traditional links between the United Kingdom and the rest of the commonwealth."

The communique said the foreign ministers had agreed on: Asia. These are to be submitted to the ministers' home governments.

1. Recommendations for economic development in south and southeast Asia. These are to be submitted to the ministers' home governments.

2. Recommendations regarding conditions for a peace settlement with Japan. These, too, now go back to the individual governments.

The recommendations for economic development have been described as a program of self-help and mutual aid among Asia countries, utilizing credits and technical assistance from the commonwealth nations.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, speaking at the final conference session, said the conference's work would be "undone by no other," though "the British public may or may not like me to continue this work in six weeks time."

Bevin referred to the British general election Feb. 23, in which Britain's Labor government will either be returned to office or supplanted.

India's prime minister, Jawaharlal Nehru, commented that though the conference might not have solved the world's problems, "we have learned what the problems are so we can face up to them."

The conference communique said commonwealth economic officials in simultaneous meetings had surveyed the sterling area's current and prospective position, with particular attention to recent and future dollar exports.

Six of the eight commonwealth nations reported last night that devaluation of the British pound and other sterling currencies so far had resulted in little increase of exports to dollar areas. Only the United Kingdom and Canada reported such increases.

The conference also discussed, the communique said, the recent political settlement in Indonesia, the present situations in Indo-China, Burma and Malaya; the question of recognition of the "new regime in China," future relations of the commonwealth countries with China, the current political situation in Europe and the Middle East, and "steps being taken to promote closer cooperation, both political and economical, among the countries of western Europe and between them and the United States of America and Canada.

Big Question Is Whether 69,000 Will Follow Lewis

U.N. Proceeds Despite Malik Second 'Walk'

Lake Success, Jan. 14 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council plans to go ahead with normal work despite the latest Soviet walkout.

The 10 remaining nations on the council intend to ignore Russia's challenge that council actions are not legal as long as Nationalist China holds its big power seat in the 11-nation security plan.

The Russians yesterday lost their fight to unseat Chinese Nationalist delegate T. F. Tsiang. Soviet representative Jakob Malik quit the council chamber in his second walkout of the week.

Russia, India and Yugoslavia—who have recognized the Chinese Communist government—voted to oust the Nationalists here.

Britain and Norway, who also have recognized the Chinese Reds, abstained. They contended expulsion would be premature until a majority of the 59 United Nations switched recognition from the Nationalists to the Communists.

Voting against the Soviet demand were the United States, France, Cuba, Ecuador and Egypt. Seven affirmative votes were needed to kick out the Nationalists.

Malik's action and statements were attacked by remaining members. Then, over Yugoslavia's objection, the council restored Tsiang to the chairmanship he holds for January.

The council at once began consideration of a U.N. assembly request for the Armaments Commission to proceed with a worldwide survey of non-atomic weapons.

Action on the arms request is only a procedural matter, requiring a majority vote and not the assent of all the "Big Five" members. The council has been asked merely to transmit a message from the assembly to the commission.

But U. S. delegate Ernest Gross did throw a definite challenge to the Russians, the strongest pronouncement any of the big power permanent members of the council yet has made on the question of Russian walkouts and their affect. Gross said:

"The absence of the Soviet representative will not prevent us from conducting the business to which we are pledged."

Gross called Malik's walkout "a whim, motivated by malice or a desire for propaganda."

Tsiang continued the arms survey question to a meeting he called for Tuesday.

Mattress Fire Causes Alarm at Vets' Project

Smoke which at first was believed to be coming from the boiler room at the Veterans Housing Project on Charlotte Place East was traced to a mattress fire in the apartment of Raymond Smith in the project at 12:20 a. m. today, the fire department reported.

Deputy Chief George Matthews said firemen were notified by James Secreto, another project resident, that smoke was seeping into his apartment, apparently from the boiler room. Firemen from the Wiltwyck station and the A. H. Wicks Engine Company on their arrival traced the fire to the mattress, which they took to the street to be extinguished, he reported. Matthews listed the probable cause of the fire as a cigarette.

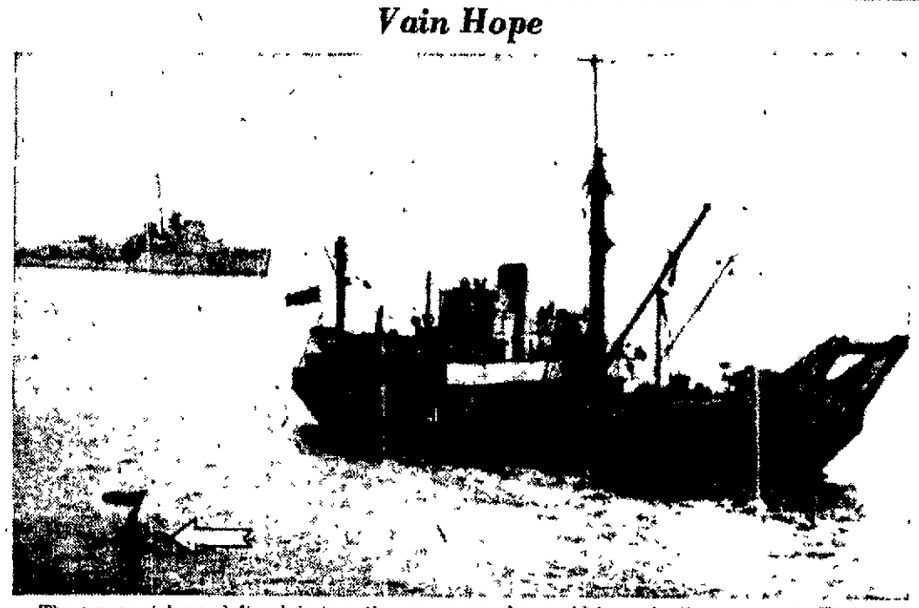

Storm Hits Buffalo

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 14 (AP)—A furious windstorm smashed through western New York today, causing widespread damage. The Weather Bureau here issued a special warning that it would be dangerous to be outdoors all day. Trees were uprooted, power lines were torn down and windows shattered. Walking was difficult. No injuries were reported. At Rochester, a sustained blow of 72 miles an hour for five minutes was the hardest on record, the Weather Bureau there said. The previous mark was 66 miles an hour for one minute in February, 1946.

Russia Negotiates

London, Jan. 14 (AP)—Russia is reported negotiating for important new naval and military bases in Communist China, a qualified informant said last night this information came from Moscow to a major western power. The source stressed that the report may have arisen out of speculation on the current secret talks between high Russian and Communist Chinese officials. Other western officials, however, said they believed the two countries would soon complete agreements on defense, trade and friendship.

Vain Hope

Sighting of the buoy gave rise to vain hopes that the 65 missing men might have released it, but naval authorities stated it probably broke loose in the ramming. Standing by are the destroyer Finisterre (background) and a salvage vessel. Fifteen of the 80 men aboard were rescued. (NEA Radio-Telephoto)

Dewey Says Law Abolishes Old Fear

Governor Sees Statute Aiding 6 Millions Within State

New York, Jan. 14 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey says New York State's new Sickness Disability Law will fulfill "a dream" and abolish an "old fear" for "6,000,000 people in our state and their families."

If, after next July 1, any of these wage earners get sick and cannot work, Dewey said last night, they "will be freed of the fear of going on relief or seeing their families go hungry."

Under the new law he added, they will get regular insurance payments, equal to one-half of their weekly wages up to a maximum of $26 weekly for a period of 13 weeks.

Dewey spoke over a statewide National Broadcasting Company network.

He described the new law, which entered its first phase January 1, as a "tremendous social advance" that "may well turn out to be the greatest in our history."

The measure, he said, avoids "the evils of socialized medicine" but takes "care of the fundamental family need for food and shelter" when illness strikes a worker.

Dewey's talk was devoted chiefly to explaining the law, which, he said, leaves to the 175,000 employers and 6,000,000 wage-earners affected the freedom to work out details of individual insurance plans.

To employes, Dewey said:

"Your employer will deduct not more than six cents a week from your paycheck until July 1. After July 1 he may deduct one-half of one per cent, which would be 30 cents if you get $60 a week or more, and less if your pay is smaller than that. The most it can cost as an employe is 30 cents a week."

All "benefits of the law come into full force" on July 1, he said, and cover all establishments where four or more persons are employed.

Dewey told employers to submit for approval to the Workmen's Compensation Board their individual insurance plans. The plans, he said, may be systems already in effect, or new ones, so long as they meet the law's requirements.

Scrutiny Still Is Given

Cairo, Jan. 14 (AP)—Cairo's newspapers have been told censorship is over but outgoing cables still must pass official scrutiny. Censorship of the local press, authorized May 15, 1948, when Egyptian troops entered Palestine, had been suspended when the national election campaign began in December. It was reimposed Thursday. Yesterday the Interior Ministry said censorship of local newspapers had again been lifted.

Snow and Wind Strike Rocky Mountains and Blizzard Is Forecast

(By The Associated Press)

The winter season's worst storm dealt staggering blows over wide areas of the western and central parts of the country today.

A snow-windstorm, after striking with full force across the Pacific Northwest, roared into the Rocky Mountain states, Oregon, Washington, parts of Idaho, northern California and northern Nevada reeled from the impact of the blustery weather.

Blizzard conditions were forecast for Montana and Wyoming. The storm hit western Montana last night, with strong winds and blowing, drifting snow. Temperatures ranged from 20 to 25 below zero in northern Montana.

A blizzard blew into Minnesota and colder weather spread across most of the north central region.

The storm which struck over the northern Great Lakes region was accompanied by winds of 40 to 50 miles an hour throughout the north-central states and gusts of 60 to 80 m.p.h. Heavy snowfalls were reported in upper Michigan.

The cold weather covered the Pacific Northwest, the northern Rocky Mountain states, the northern Great Plains and the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys.

The below zero readings extended into Washington and Oregon. The mercury dropped to 19 below at Ellensburg, in central Washington where there was 14 inches of snow on the ground. Spokane's snowfall measured 21 inches and the mercury dropped to six below. At Pendleton, Ore., the low was -2. It was lower in Minot, N. D., -26, and -24 at Great Falls, Mont., and below zero tempera-

Denham Is Attacked Sharply By Unions; N.L.R.B. Is Silent

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, was under sharp attack from organized labor today, but the N.L.R.B. members whose policies he had denounced remained silent.

C.I.O. President Philip Murray led labor's onslaught by demanding that Denham be fired for the New York speech in which he said that the board is distorting the Taft-Harley Labor Law by handing down pro-union decisions.

The four members of the N.L.R.B.—a fifth position is vacant—met yesterday morning to discuss Denham's blast, which blew into the open a conflict that has been quietly simmering for nearly two and a half years.

While they were said to be fuming at the statement of the general counsel, the board members made no announcement following the session.

Presumably they were awaiting an opportunity for a face to face talk with their chief prosecuting officer. Denham, due to return from New York this afternoon, also maintained silence.

President Joseph A. Beirne of the C.I.O. Communications Workers of America joined Murray in demanding Denham's ouster, while Al J. Hayes, head of the Independent International Association of Machinists, said the N.L.R.B. attorney's "partisanship" points up the need for Taft-Hartley repeal.

Denham's position, a powerful vote in the government's labor-management machinery, was created by the 1947 law. While his term runs until Aug. 22, 1951, union attorneys claim President Truman could fire him before then.

Murray and the other labor leaders demanding Denham's dismissal were chiefly critical of what they said was his open invitation to employers to appeal unfavorable decisions to the courts. They pointed out angrily that it would then be Denham's duty to defend the board's rulings.

Denham did not make that suggestion in so many words. But he noted that unless board decisions that the building trades employers do not like are appealed to the courts they become law.

The A.F.L. had no comment on the Denham speech.

Some Doubt Held Miners Will Obey

Men in Two Big Areas Show Discontent at Proposal 3-Day Week Resume

'Up to the Locals'

Pittsburgh District Head Says It's Up to Men Themselves

Pittsburgh, Jan. 14 (AP)—Will the 69,000 striking soft coal miners resume their three-day work week?

The coal hungry nation should get its answer Monday. Coal people are almost unanimous that the nation is short of the fuel despite President Truman's assertion to the contrary.

John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president suggested a few days ago the striking miners resume their three-day work week on Monday.

A Lewis suggestion always has been tantamount to an order in the past. Will it work again?

For the first time in many years there seems to be a doubt in some minds that all miners will heed their leader's suggestion.

Lewis, suffering a personal loss in the death of his mother, made no comment on the situation. He assumed the usual I have spoken attitude.

The rumblings came from some sections of West Virgina and Pennsylvania.

Many mine locals will hold meetings today and tomorrow to decide whether to follow Lewis' suggestion. Some U.M.W. leaders say they can't predict what will happen.

"The situation is sort of cloudy," said John Busarello, District No. 5 president at Pittsburgh. "It is strictly up to the locals whether they follow Lewis' suggestions."

The Morgantown (W. Va.) Post says "a revolt against John L. Lewis" is developing in several northern West Virginia coal mining counties.

"They (the miners) want a contract," the newspaper said, and are getting tired of this 'on again, off again' business Mr. Lewis is engaging in. They want five days a week or no days at all."

"This week about 300 local UMW officers and committeemen revived strike talk at a meeting at Grant Town, W. Va. another session is slated tomorrow. Dr. Leo Cappellini, international UMW representative, says he believes men will return to work after he "explains the situation."

One local at a Weirton Steel Company mine near Brownsville, Pa., has voted to stay on strike until a contract is obtained. The mine employs about 850.

What do the operators think about the situation? This comment, from a man who asked to remain unidentified, was typical:

"We don't know what will happen next. If you can figure out John L. Lewis' strategy, you are better than we are."

President Truman has refused to use the Taft-Hartley Act to get the mines back on full production. The President says a national emergency does not exist.

Meanwhile, the Senate Labor Committee has agreed to call a hearing, at a date yet to be set, on a Republican resolution urging the President to reverse himself.

Senator Brewster (R.-Me.) says the situation in New England is becoming increasingly serious, adding:

"I don't think we've got to have 48 states freezing before there is a national emergency."

Last night the Federal Bureau of Mines said in a cautiously worded report that "some individual cases of hardship" may result from an uneven distribution of coal stocks coupled with consumer demands for certain types of coal.

The bureau says that coal stocks in dealers' yards on January 1 averaged four days' supply, compared with a five-day average supply a month earlier.

Two Miners Trapped

Mahanoy City, Pa. Jan. 14 (AP)—Two miners are trapped 100 feet beneath the earth's surface today and more than 100 rescue workers are digging into the side of Broad Mountain in an effort to reach them. The rescue workers were spurred on by tappings believed made by the trapped men Joseph Burda, 30, and his brother Edward, 25. The cave-in occurred yesterday at the old Boston colliery on Broad Mountain.

Gems of the Talmud

by
DR. PHILIP H. WEINBERG, Rabbi

(The following quotations are taken from the Talmud, the commentary on the Old Testament.)

"A good name is better than precious oil," (Ecclesiastes 7) because "Good oil evaporates and becomes less and less, but a good name becomes greater and greater; good oil is used only at times; but a good name lasts forever; good oil can be bought for money; but a good name comes unbought to all who deserve it; good oil can be used by the living, but a good name endures even after death; good oil can be owned only by the rich, but a good name by rich and poor alike if they truly deserve it." (Shmos Rabboh 48).

"In this world a man is called by three names: one that his parents give him at birth, one that others call him, and one that he acquires for himself as good or bad. The third is the most important of the three. For over the first two names we have no control, but the last name is the result of our own acts and conduct." (Tanchumah Vayakhale).

Supervise Reade's Drive-In Theatres

Appointment of Paul Petersen to the new post of supervisor of Drive-In Theatre operations for Walter Reade Theatres, was announced today by Walter Reade.

Mr Petersen, who managed the circuit's Woodbridge Drive-In Theatre in Woodbridge, N J, last summer and then moved to Trenton N J, in August to open and manage the circuit's new Lawrence Drive-In Theatre there, will operate under the direct supervision of Nick Schermerhorn, general manager.

Mr Petersen will direct the operation of the circuit's six present deluxe drive-ins -- the Woodbridge Drive-In, Lawrence Drive-In, Toms River Drive-In in Toms River N J, 9W Drive-In in Kingston, N. Y., and the two new theatres which will open next spring, the 1050-car deluxe theatre in Lakontown, N. J, and the 2150-car Drive-In near Atlantic City, N J --and will assume the same responsibilities over additional Reade Drive-Ins as they are opened

The new post was created as the result of the circuit's rapid increase of outdoor theatres — its first in Woodbridge was opened on Labor Day in 1948. Mr. Petersen has more than 20 years experience in the theatre business, and has been with the Reade organization for about two years, managing conventional theatres before moving to the drive-in field

Tax Date Monday For Corporations

Albany, Jan. 14— The State Tax Commission today reminded 50,000 corporations that Monday, January 16 is a tax due date. Affected are business corporations taxable under Article 9A of the tax law.

The tax now due is the balance owed on returns filed in 1949. Most corporations pay in two installments, half of the tax when they file returns

Balance of the tax is ordinarily due January 15 but the corporations get an extra day this year because the 15th falls on Sunday. Delinquent corporations are subject to penalties

The Monday due date does not affect corporations taxed under Article 9, such as real estate, utility and insurance corporations

House Plan Will Keep Building Cost Down

Economy Obtained Without Sacrifice of Comforts

Any prospective home builder looking for a three-bedroom house designed to keep construction costs at a minimum, without sacrificing comforts, should be interested in "The Cleveland," today's offering from the "Home of the Week" Plan Service, Inc.

In this house, which is patterned after the garrison types of Colonial times, overall dimensions have been kept to 32x24 feet and the cubage to 21,000 feet. Rooms are all good-sized and have cross ventilation, and there are 11 closets in the house.

Cheaper to Build

A house of garrison style is much more economical to build than a 1-story dwelling of the ranch type. There is less foundation and cellar work in such a house, and considerably less roof area.

In "The Cleveland," because second-floor rooms are amply large, there is practically no overhang at the line between first and second story—thus making an additional saving. In appearance, however, "The Cleveland" follows the lines of a garrison house—emphasized by the use of painted stucco on the first story with pendant drops, and stained shingles used elsewhere on the exterior. Shutters are provided at all windows

The front door is flanked by sidelights which illuminate the entry hall. This hall extends through the house, with doors or archways opening from it into the several rooms on the floor.

Stairs to the second floor from the hall and there is a lavette at the end of the hall, on the rear of the house. Two closets and the cellar stairway also open off the hall.

Living Room at Right

The living room, 23x12 feet, is at the right of the hall. Four windows and a French door opening on the rear piazza give abundant light to the living room.

Across the hall, on the other side of the house, are the dining room and kitchen. The dining room, measuring 12x12 feet, contains two built-in corner china cabinets and has a good unbroken section of wall to accommodate a buffet.

A swinging door connects the dining room with the kitchen. This room measures 12x11 feet and has its equipment and working counters well planned. A counter-topped cabinet separates one corner of the room into a breakfast nook. A door by this counter opens on the breezeway, connecting the house with the garage.

Upstairs Hall Is Roomy

The second-floor layout gives considerable space to a hall, which is lighted by a window on the rear of the house This hall, which contains a linen closet, separates the bedrooms so that each room enjoys maximum privacy. The bathroom and bedrooms open off the hall. A door opening from the bathroom into the 16x12-foot master bedroom could be installed if desired. This would eliminate one of three closets in this bedroom.

The other bedrooms, on the opposite side of the house, measure 12x12 and 12x11 feet respectively. Each room has one clothes closet.

The basement plan places the heating system under the living room and the laundry equipment under the lavette, leaving the rest of the space to be partitioned off into recreation room, hobby rooms, store rooms, etc.

A lot with not less than a 60-foot frontage will be needed for this house. With a larger lot, the size of the breezeway could be increased.

Full insulation is recommended with louvres placed in the gable ends.

Complete plans and specifications for this "Home of the Week," or any other design of this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Bulding Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a 3-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Well Built and Low Cost Home

The building or buying of a house involves for the average person a large investment and one for which he is entitled to good construction and full value for every dollar expended. Most people plan the purchase of their houses many months in advance—reviewing past experiences, posting themselves on features of design, consulting with other owners and then weighing all the evidence

Home building is a fascinating undertaking in which careful planning and consideration for features of enduring worth will yield large returns in the form of lasting satisfaction To build these values into a home is not too difficult. It is a mater of selecting, through proper design, the features that secure these values and then of taking care that they are properly installed.

Plan Efficient Shape

The key to a well built low-cost home is an efficient shape, an efficient floor plan, a minimum of time-consuming and expensive detail, and adequate equipment.

A fairly large home built of a durable but inexpensive type of construction, such as wood, and equipped with sound, medium-cost, necessary accessories, will cost less and give greater satisfaction than an elaborately planned small house built of an expensive mechanical equipment.

The first consideration should be a good shell, and the home-building project should be approached from a shelter rather than a "gadget" viewpoint.

Costly Fixtures May Be a Bar

Costly bathrom fixtures, kitchen equipment, light fixtures, wall decorations, heating facilities, the cost of landscaping, laundry equipment, and the cost of accommodations for an automobile will very often spell the difference between building and not building.

Modern mechanical conveniences are highly desirable, but fortunately they are not necessarily an integral part of a building. Garage facilities can be added to the homestead subsequent to its construction at no increase in cost. It seems logical, therefore, to give serious thought and consideration to the things that can be done without when the attempt is made to balance the cost of a house and the family budget.

Plan for the body of the home first—then add refinement as the budget permits.

Avoid Using Oil on Wax-Coated Floors

Hardwood floors which are wax-coated should be cleaned with a mop or soft brush which is free from oil, as oil has a tendency to soften wax. A cloth wrung from warm, soapy water should suffice to remove the surface dirt. There are certain cleaners which are recommended for removing wax and for removing spots or discolorations from floors before refinishing A paint dealer can give advice about them. A rag moistened with turpentine or mineral spirits will also remove wax.

Paint Metal Work About Property

Most property owners are fully aware that the exposed woodwork of a house must be painted at frequent intervals as a protection against weather Yet most of them are not nearly so careful to see that the metal work about the property is given constant paint protection

Tin roofs and metal gutters if they are to endure, need painting at least every three years oftener if the coating shows signs of peeling before that time Uncertain of how to go about this work one reader writes

"Kindly advise as to the treatment of new metal gutters Also, is a steel brush equal to sandpaper in preparing for a painting job?"

Before painting metal roofs and gutters, painting experts say the surfaces should be cleaned of loose, scaling paint A wire brush is best for this job although steel wool or sandpaper can be used. Then wipe over the surface with turpentine.

There is no good reason why tin roofs and gutters must be painted red They may be any other color—even white which reflects heat and would thus tend to make the interior of the house cooler Any type of exterior house paint or metal paint is satisfactory for coating roofs if applied over a priming coat of red lead zinc chromatic or zinc dust

At least three coats are recommended applied in thin coats which dry for a full week before the next coat is applied A new metal roof should be left to weather for two or three months before it is painted This will allow the grease resulting from the tin plating process to be weathered away Such weathering also serves to slightly etch the metal, enabling the paint to obtain better adhesion to the roof's surface.

DEFICIT DECEPTION

The term "deficit financing" has been established as the modern name for government use of the procedure which used to be known by the more blunt expression "living beyond income". Deficit financing is not new. The United States Government has resorted to it many times in our history as a nation.

When this nation was young the method of going into debt was different. When the government wanted to borrow money it had to do what an individual still must do; it had to find a financier willing to lend the money. The government had to prove that it was a good risk and had a sound need for the loan; the loan had to be repaid within a reasonable time. Then it would have been impossible to go on running into debt year after year, for soon no financier would have been willing to lend more money.

In these days the government simply issues bonds, which still find a ready market despite the huge total of the public debt. Thus deficit financing is easy, and it does not seem necessary to consider the day of reckoning. This may be one reason why deficit financing has become an accepted habit.

When the government borrowed money to tide it over a bad year or two, that was one thing. But borrowing continuously, year after year, is quite another. It is a way to deceive the taxpayer. He thinks of the cost of government in terms of his annual tax bill. But actually his annual cost is much higher, because every year the government borrows to meet part of its expenses. Some day the taxpayer must pay off this debt, and then he will discover what the true cost of government has been these past twenty years or so. It's better to get mad now than then.

When passing out orchids, how about slipping a few to the tiny chickweed, whose physical stamina and delicate white stars scoff at winter's mightiest attacks and return to mock the gardener in the summer?

With due scientific respect for Einstein's new "Generalized Theory of Gravitation" most of us will be content to rest on the knowledge that what goes up must come down.

NEED OF THE G.O.P.

What does the Republican party need to win? The new policy-framing group of fifteen, appointed by the National chairman Guy G. Gabrielson, undoubtedly recognizes that the greatest need is more voters.

If the Gallup poll, which took a beating in 1948, is now correct, the Republicans face a serious situation. Gallup figures indicate that the younger voters have for some time been trending to the Democrats, while those over 60 favor Republicanism. If this continues, the Democrats will get progressively stronger and the Republicans weaker. Loss by death of the older electors might help to account for the unexpected defeat in 1948 under this theory.

Age divisions are subject to one obvious possibility. Voters are less apt now to remain static. Given the proper incentive, they will switch to new leaders and new parties. The Gabrielson committee will strive for just such an outcome.

Many a Christmas necktie—that perennial gift—made a quick trip from tree to back corner of dresser drawer.

WE'VE LOST A FRIEND

Americans are accustomed to learning from a big corps of foreign correspondents what the rest of the world is doing. They would be surprised at how little the rest of the world hears of America. That's true even of Britain and other English-speaking nations.

One man who did a lot to tell the American story abroad was Sir Willmott Lewis, longtime Washington correspondent of the London Times. Thus it is with a genuine sense of loss that we read of his passing at the age of 72 in the capital.

Unlike most foreign reporters who invade Washington, Sir Willmott took the trouble to find out how our government really works. He is said to have known as much about the intricacies of U. S. politics as any writer in the capital. For nearly 30 years he told the British the things he learned.

It was wholly fitting that he should have chosen to spend his years of retirement not in his native Britain but in Washington, the place he knew best. We will be lucky ever to find again as faithful an interpreter of our national life to people abroad.

THE SCORE CARD

In January, 1945, Moscow ruled 190,000,000 human beings.

In June, 1948, Moscow ruled 450,000,000 human beings.

By November, 1949, Moscow rules over 800,000,000 human beings.

The total human population of the earth is about 2,500,000,000. Moscow rules one-third of the human race.

When the nations at war with Germany and Japan attended Dumbarton Oaks and later the San Francisco conferences, they sought a formula to establish a comity of nations, a parliament of man, some kind of one world, but no one assumed at those conferences that World War II would lead to the conquest of the human race by Soviet Russia. In fact, the war was fought to prevent Hitler from ruling a limited area in Europe.

At no time was it assumed, even at San Francisco, that five years later, one country, Soviet Russia, would have been permitted by the United States and Great Britain to become the dominant nation on earth. Certainly the United States never anticipated that this country would become a minority on the Security Council of the United Nations. The shock of Soviet intentions, made amply clear at the Potsdam conference, forced an end to the policy of cooperation with Russia and to the "cold war."

It must now be admitted by the facts that Soviet Russia has been victorious in the "cold war." All her immediate objectives have been attained. This Stalin accomplished by a recognition of three factors in the situation:

1. The United States has become so befuddled by a domestic struggle for the continuance in office by the New Deal group, that Stalin could, with patience and skill, utilize situations to his advantage. The most useful situation for him was the absolute political necessity for the State Department to cover up the mistakes made by Roosevelt at Teheran and Yalta. Stalin's advantage was improved when Dean Acheson became secretary of state.

2. Great Britain has been a dependent country for many years, making up her deficits through grants-in-aid provided by the United States. The most recent such grant was the Marshall Plan upon which we piled European Military Aid.

But it has become obvious from our own figures that the United States is beginning to weary of aiding the British, whose most recent emphasis is upon what is called Point Four—a scheme by which the United States is to underwrite the British colonies in particular and most colonies held by Europeans in general. But Point Four is not doing so well in congress, for in spite of giving the plan such a meaningless name as Point Four, which covers a multitude of schemes, congress does not like any of it.

So the British set out to make trade deals with Soviet Russia, not directly but through such satellites as Poland, Czechoslovakia and Soviet China. The most important of these deals involves the recognition of Soviet China and the retention of Hongkong by Great Britain.

In all this maneuvering, the British needed assurances that the United States would not be too offended, that a way would be found to placate the American government and American public opinion. In this, the British were fortunate in having as secretary of state, Dean Acheson, who blindly pursues British policy and who, as a Yalta traditionalist, must cover up the errors of Roosevelt, Harry Hopkins, Alger Hiss, and other authors of Russia's conquest of China.

3. The third factor in Stalin's favor is the very old historic fact that nobody likes a creditor and nobody likes the good fellow who gives his money away so freely that he makes the debtor feel cheap and resentful.

Stalin's propoganda machine has worked with great skill to convince all the recipients of American favors that the gifts are not a free-will offering from a compassionate people aiding others in distress, but rather that American imperialism is using money to enslave peoples. In a word, their "fear" propaganda has been effective, but largely because, in the handling of American aid, nothing has been done to protect the reputation of the United States. From UNRRA until today, American aid has not served American prestige.

Stalin's plan is to isolate the United States. To date, he has done remarkably well in a short time.

That Body of Yours

KEEPING DIABETICS COMFORTABLE

Before the days of insulin, every man, woman and child with diabetes died. By using a diet low in starch, some diabetics were able to live a number of months up to perhaps a year or two, but the disease was always fatal. Today the number of cases of diabetes is as large if not larger than before insulin was discovered by Drs. Banting and Best. Many diabetics die, but the lives of the great majority are saved, many living as long as if they were not suffering from diabetes.

Since the discovery of insulin, groups of diabetics are organizing Diabetic Associations throughout the world. These organizations deal with the problems of diabetes because, while life can be saved by strict attention to diet and the regular use of insulin, nevertheless circumstances arise which must be understood by the diabetic if he is to live "comfortably" at all times.

The latest association to be formed is the Diabetic Association of Ontario, Canada, which owes its existence largely to the stimulation of Dr. C. H. Best, co-discoverer of insulin. An editorial in "The Canadian Medical Association Journal" states that the formation of this Ontario Diabetic Association is a valuable and practical step in dealing with the problem of diabetes. "The actual treatment of the disease will still remain in the hands of the physician, but there are many problems connected with diabetics which are not strictly medical and yet call for solution; such, for instance, as camps where diabetic children can be dealt with; boarding houses where diabetics can obtain meals especially needed; education of employers with regard to employing diabetics, the promotion of plans for early detection of diabetes." The association, by making known these plans, can help the daily life of the diabetic and actually prevent the development of diabetes in many young men, women and children.

Physicians can greatly help by advising their diabetic patient to join, and as on other projects this organization "can give its weight" in directing projects for the betterment of the diabetic population.

Yea, Verily, Familiarity Breeds Contempt

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — In 1932, when Franklin Roosevelt advocated the repeal of prohibition, one big argument was that liquor racketeers had become a law unto themselves, a group above the government. That argument was valid. But now the old liquor racketeers have moved into the gambling racket where they still remain a law unto themselves.

Last year a rash of stories on Frankie Costello were published by Time, Newsweek and Edward Folliard of the Washington Post, a great newspaperman. These stories told how Costello lunched in style at the Waldorf, wore custom-made clothes, owned an office building on Wall Street.

Unwittingly, these articles tended to paint such a glorified picture of America's No. 1 gambler that an impressionable youngster might have been persuaded that this was the life for him.

It was even pointed out that Costello still lived with the same wife; completely ignoring the files of the New York police department which are filled with recordings of obscene telephone conversations between Costello and a score of mistresses.

The tragic fact is that Costello and the gang leaders he represents have succeeded to an amazing degree not only in making crime pay but in making it respectable. That is not a lesson that we want taught our youth.

Furthermore, when any one group in our society sets itself up as more powerful than another, democracy breaks down.

Costello Could Be Deported

Hitherto Costello's chief influence has been in the big cities—New York, Miami and Los Angeles. But now he appears to be able to reach inside the federal government.

The amazing fact is that Costello could be deported from the United States and sent back to Italy tomorrow if the Justice Department wanted to. For, when Costello swore out his American citizenship papers in 1925, he perjured himself regarding his criminal record. Countless other immigrants have been deported for doing exactly the same thing, but they have lacked something which Costello has—influence.

At this very moment, another immigrant, Harry Bridges, is on trial in San Francisco on exactly the same charge—perjury in connection with his citizenship papers.

This column holds no brief for Bridges. But everyone should be treated equally. And it's an ironic fact that "Jiggs" Donohue, a private attorney who has had contacts with the Maragon-Costello crowd, is now retained by the Justice Department to prosecute Bridges.

Costello's Partners

President Truman, I am convinced, knows nothing about Costello influence inside the government and would not stand for it if he did. Nevertheless, Costello appears to have a powerful friend inside the Bureau of Internal Revenue, and this column has previously published the details on the fixing of a federal tax-fraud case involving Los Angeles gamblers.

Last summer, Sen. Clyde Hoey's investigating committee also stumbled onto the fact that ex-White House friend John Maragon, now under indictment, had been employed by Costello's partner, "Dandy Phil" Kastel, and that Bill Helis, the "Golden Greek," another partner of Costello's, had been a contributor to the Truman campaign.

Maragon was found to have a secret banking account in El Paso, Texas, which over a period of time contained as much as $135,000—a lot of money for a man who complained that his salary averaged around $4,000 annually. Furthermore, most of Maragon's transactions were in cash—the coin of the underworld.

Maragon and General Vaughan also had enough power inside the Truman administration to overrule a housing order against the remodeling of California's Tanforan race track after being introduced to the track's owners by Costello's partner, Helis.

Though Costello probably makes most of his money in gambling, one source of revenue is his partnership with "Dandy Phil" Kastel, Bill Helis and Irving Haim, as sales agents for House of Lords and King's Ransom whiskies. When Republican senators stumbled into this connection last summer, Helis immediately issued a vigorous denial. He said that at no time had he ever been associated with Costello in connection with the Whiteley Company, owners of House of Lords and King's Ransom.

The Official Record

However, here is part of the official, though confidential record regarding the partnership of White House friend Bill Helis, Frankie Costello, and "Dandy Phil" Kastel.

Nov. 8, 1937—A note for $225,000 to Irving Haim at the Whitney National Bank in New Orleans was endorsed by Phil Kastel, William Helis and Frank Costello.

In 1938—Kastel owed C. D. Jennings of Chicago $45,000 for slot machines. So a note for the debt was signed by Kastel and Robert Friedberg with Alliance Distributors stock certificates put up as collateral. Alliance Distributors is the name under which Costello, Kastel and Helis operate. To meet the note Alliance Distributors arranged to sell 2,000 cases of whisky and turn the proceeds over to C. D. Jennings.

Aug. 23, 1938—Bill Helis paid Irving Haim's note for $225,000 at the Whitney National Bank with his personal check for that amount.

Sept. 15, 1938—An agreement was executed between Irving Haim and William Helis giving Helis an interest in J. G. Turney and Sons, Ltd., the holding company for King's Ransom and House of Lords whiskies.

Sept. 16, 1938—A receipt was signed by Helis for 10,000 ordinary shares and 35,000 preferred shares of stock.

Who Told the Lie?

Sept. 1, 1939—Lloyd Cobb, Helis' man in New Orleans, wrote A. G. Reynolds, Helis' man in London, enclosing a clipping from the Washington Merry-Go-Round, linking Helis to Frank Costello.

Jan. 18, 1941—An interoffice memo from A. G. Reynolds indicated that Phil Kastel's $100,000 note and Haim's $225,000 note hadn't been paid. The memo referred to a letter agreement between Helis and Haim whereby both notes would be repaid by Haim.

July 27, 1943—George Uffner came to New York from New Orleans to see Costello. Costello, calling Uffner on the phone said "You and Bill Helis meet me in the lobby tonight at seven o'clock. If Alfange wants to see me that will be all right." (Dean Alfange is Helis' lawyer, who also issued a denial last summer that Helis was ever connected with Costello).

Feb. 1947—Helis, when interviewed by the New York State Liquor Authority stated that Haim had paid all money owed him, and that he and Haim now owned equal shares in J. G. Turney and Son.

August 1949—William Helis denied to the press that he had ever been associated with Frank Costello in connection with the Whiteley Company, the wholly owned subsidiary of J. G. Turney and Son.

Mrs. Fred Smith died at the home of her son, Elmer Smith, on Smith avenue.

McKenney on Bridge

Poor Bidding Can Lead to Bad Double

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Musicians play a lot of bridge, according to Dolph Traymon, who recently opened with his trio at the Warwick's Raleigh Room in New York. After a long rehearsal bridge is a good relaxation. Musicians like excitement in their game and today's hand provided both interest and excitement for them.

I do not believe anyone would criticize East for doubling West's contract for four hearts, especially in view of the fact that his partner had made a bid. But you will find that the hand cannot be beaten, regardless of the opening lead.

Of course if West had been on lead to cash the three spade tricks, that would have been a different story. But East was void of spades, so he elected to open the deuce of clubs, his fourth best. The trick was won in dummy with the king of clubs and the ace of clubs immediately cashed. West had played the seven and then the five, echoing out.

Declarer knew East had to have at least five trumps to justify his double. He also felt that East did not hold the king-queen of trump,

North: ♠ 10 7 6 4 ♥ J 6 5 2 ♦ None ♣ Q J 10 9 3

West: ♠ A K Q J 8 3 ♥ Q ♦ J 9 7 5 ♣ 7 5

East: ♠ None ♥ K 10 7 4 3 ♦ 10 6 3 2 ♣ 8 6 4 2

South (Dealer): ♠ 9 5 2 ♥ A 9 8 ♦ A K Q 8 4 ♣ A K

Rubber—N-S vul

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	3 ♠	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	4 ♥	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening—♣ 2 14

otherwise he would have opened a trump. So at this point declarer cashed dummy's ace of hearts, West's queen dropping.

Declarer then proceeded to cash dummy's ace, king and queen of diamonds, discarding three small spades. The fourth diamond was trumped. Now the queen and jack of clubs were cashed, two spades being discarded from dummy.

The ten of clubs was led and East was helpless. He had to trump. If he trumped low, dummy's nine spot would win, while if he trumped with the ten spot, dummy would discard the third spade.

Now there was no way to keep declarer from making the jack of hearts, and his contract, only losing three heart tricks.

Symphony Names Four Selections For Local Concert

FABIEN SEVITZKY

Four selections have been chosen for the concert next Wednesday night by the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Fabien Sevitzky. The concert which is one of this season's Community Concert Association programs, will be given in Kingston High School Auditorium at 8:30 p. m.

The orchestra will play Prelude and Fugue in F Minor by Bach transcribed for orchestra by Eugene Zador. In the program notes Zador writes, "Since there are scarcely any organ concerts today, it seems to me that the transcription of such works is the best, if not the only way, to bring their beauty to the public. In transcribing this work my effort has been to preserve the sound of the organ. In all proper humility toward the great master, I have changed as little as possible, and then only where orchestral necessities demanded it — doubling of voices here, raising or lowering an octave there."

The second number will be the popular, symphonic poem, The Moldau, from the cycle, My Fatherland, by Friedrich Smetana. The cycle consisting of six symphonic poems, is so couched in terms of unconquerable patriotism of the fiery, ardent leader of the Bohemian national school of music that its performance was prohibited during the recent German occupation. The Moldau is the second poem in the cycle and recalls Bohemian history, legends, scenery and customs, through which the beloved river Moldau passes. "The Moldau is to the Czechs what the Volga is to Russians or the Danube to Austrians."

For the third selection the orchestra will play Waltz Suite, C Sus 39 by Ernst Von Dohnanyi, which was composed in 1942 and contains four waltzes.

The complete symphony for the program will be Symphony No. 1, in C Minor, Opus 68 by Johannes Brahms. The work is likened to Beethoven's Fifth in C Minor, as both work out the dramatic transition from epic tragedy in the first movement, to victorious triumph in the last movement.

The orchestra itself, composed of 85 musicians, has been under the direction of Sevitzky since 1937 and has grown considerably in musicianship and popularity through the years. The group is on tour of 20 American cities at the present time. Monday night the symphony will play in Carnegie Hall, New York.

Admission to the local concert is by membership card only.

EDUCATION NOTES

More Frequent Parent Groups' Meetings Favored

More frequent meetings of parent groups for study and discussion purposes were recommended by the Myron J. Michael School Education Association of parents and teachers at the January 12 meeting. The group saw a movie, "Families First" and then made use of the small group discussion teachnique.

The meeting approved the school rule which limits evening social affairs to 7:30-10 p. m., and recommended that clothing "fads" in adolescents be ignored rather than stimulated by adult decree.

At the beginning of the discussion the group was divided into small sections of six or eight people. Each group elected its own chairman and proceeded to discuss problems raised by the film. In this way all members were able to participate without having to make a public speech. At the end of this period the small-group chairmen formed a panel and reviewed the suggestions of all the groups.

Members of the association who served as group chairmen were: Walter Waite, Sherwood Lasher, Miss Mildred Kirshenblum, Mrs. Edwin Strong, Mrs. Helen Sulko, and Henry Paley. Miss Ruth Northway, director of Elementary Education, evaluated the panel at the close of the meeting.

Other topics discussed during the evening were crime comics, crime radio programs, the emotional needs of adolescents, and methods by which the school can keep the parents better informed of its program.

The group plans a similar type of discussion in March. Mrs. Roger G. Billings, president of the association, presided at the meeting.

Stamp News Editor To Be Interviewed

Ernest Kehr, stamp news editor of the New York Herald Tribune, will be interviewed by pupils of the Myron J. Michael School Stamp Club Thursday, January 19, over WKNY. The program will start at 8 p. m.

Kehr has directed several national stamp shows as well as international stamp shows at the World's Fair in 1940. He has traveled more than 500,000 miles including the Americas, the Caribbean and Europe since 1929. During these travels, he has given over 2,000 personal and radio talks on stamps and his experiences.

The Tribune representative also has authored several articles and books on philately including "Romance of Stamp Collecting," "Guide to Stamp Collecting," and "Philatelic Glossary."

Pupils participating in the program will be Elvin Rose, Glenn Otis, Robert Sanford and Marc Reuben. Teachers taking part will include Mrs. Christina Flisser and Harry Streifer. Miss Mary M. Kelly will be the moderator.

It was these paintings which were included in the contest. Of the 56 students participating, 41 came from the eighth grade and 15 from the ninth grade. A perfect score was achieved by John Steenburgh of the ninth grade. Winners of the second and third places were Elizabeth Rigby and Frieda Cohen, respectively, of the eighth grade. In the final score, based on participation and individual high scores, the eighth grade received seven points and the ninth grade three points. This project and contest were conducted by Miss Isabel Malone.

A chap, after placing flowers on a grave in the cemetery, noticed an old Chinaman placing a bowl of rice on a nearby grave and asked: "What time do you expect your friend to come up and eat the rice"

Replied the o'd Chinaman: "Same time your friend come up to smell flowers."

Counting Legs?

Confessions of a Hostess

'Twas on a flight from 'Frisco
And we were making time.
Then I stopped fluffing pillows
For it was supper-time.

I counted noses once again
Prepared each a tray and plate.
When suddenly I discovered
The china short by eight.

So I used some paper pie plates
The company's rule was china.
No one knew the difference
Nothing could be finer.

But with the eating over
The dishes had me stopped.
Of course I washed the china
The paper plates I slopped.

They sailed all over Utah
And showed up clear and bright.
They were the flying saucers
That were seen that night.

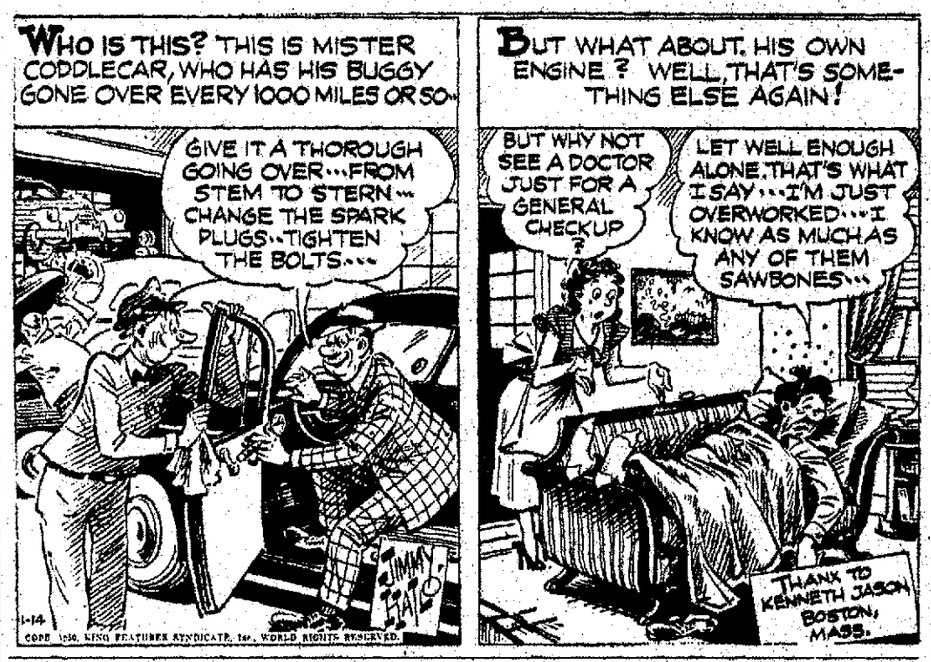

I had not meant to tell this
But I'm not a hostess anymore.
So I'm telling all you people
Who have seen them by the score.

If this has been a mystery
Then let it be unraveled.
I'm sure by now the paper plates
In every state have traveled.

Winter's Worst . . .

tures were general throughout the storm belt.

Colder Weather Expected

The colder weather also was expected in the flooded areas of the Ohio river valley, sending temperatures down to around normal from yesterday's spring-like readings. Rain, which had doused the watershed for several days, had ended. More families left their homes as waters spilled over lowlands. Other river areas braced for major floods.

The blizzard which hammered the Pacific northwest was blamed for at least five deaths, all in Washington. Highway traffic was snarled throughout the storm belt. Air travel was halted and train service curtailed.

The storm hit hard on the Washington coast. Winds reached a velocity of 60 to 70 miles an hour and at Redmond, Ore., it howled at a velocity of 78 miles an hour. Seattle's weather bureau said the storm was one of the worst in the city's history. The city was blanketed with a 10-inch snowfall. The mercury was 13 above last night.

A dozen or more fishing boats at Grays Harbor were grounded or sank. The coast guard guided lost vessels to port through the swirling, powdery snow over Puget Sound.

Across the continent, storm warnings were hoisted on the Atlantic coast from Maine to North Carolina. Winds of 40 miles an hour were reported.

Fog Over New York

A cottony fog hung over New York yesterday halting operations at the city's busy airports and hampering ship movements in the harbor. Gales off Iceland and Newfoundland slowed ocean liners and ships arrived in New York one to four days behind schedule.

More freezing weather appeared in prospect tonight in the California citrus districts. Heavy snow ranging up to six feet on the level blocked many roads in northern California. Strong winds with gusts up to 60 m.p.h. whipped the northern coast and heavy rain fell all along the coast.

In the midwest flood basin, the outcome of the worst threats of the season depended on immediate weather conditions. More families were evacuated in the area along the St. Francis river near Kennett, Mo. A dozen National Guardsmen were ordered to the district for flood duty and took supplies for families forced from their homes.

The Red Cross evacuated 50 families yesterday as water spread over 18 blocks of lowlands along Pigeon creek at Evansville, Ind. The Ohio river reached 44.8 feet and is expected to crest at 45.5 feet Sunday. Flood stage is 42 feet but the expected crest is not expected to cause serious damage. The Ohio river also was rising at Mt. Vernon but upstream at Cincinnati a two-foot drop in the big river's level was reported.

The crest of the Wabash river passed Vincennes, Ind., at 27.3 feet yesterday. Rains of the past few days were expected to keep it high for several days.

Many business establishments in Rosiclare, Ill., were flooded as the Ohio river floodwaters poured into the community of 2,000. Some 80 families have been evacuated.

Across the Ohio river in Smithland, Ky., the waters forced evacuation of all business houses. Families in that community and in other small Kentucky towns along the Ohio and Cumberland rivers have been forced to move from their homes.

Flood control experts were ordered into the Cairo, Ill., area to observe flood conditions. The Ohio and Mississippi rivers, both running high, join at Cairo. Col. Louis H. Foote, U. S. district engineer at Memphis, said the order was a precautionary move.

● Bagatelles:

The rumor mart has New Haven, Conn., and Peckskill joining the Colonial League to make up an eight-team circuit for the 1950 campaign. Peekskill recently moved out of the North Atlantic League, thereby culminating A. B. "Duke" Landgraf's dream of an all-Pennsy circuit for the Class D loop. Reuben Gomez, who joined the championship Bristol Owls late in the 1949 season, is the sensation of the Panama Winter League. He'll be back to haunt Colonial League clubs.

● Flotsam and Jetsam:

Milan Marusic, the Bald Eagle of Woolfert's Roost in Albany, played out the string in Los Angeles Open for a flat 300. He fired rounds of 76-72-78-74, or 20 strokes off the pace set by Ben Hogan and Sam Snead. The IBM Pollo Sweepstakes have attracted an entry list of 224 teams and a prize list of $1334. Don't the WIBC or the KWBA rules have a provision for rolling off ties in a city championship? Co-champions in any city tournament are unheard of as far as this corner is concerned. Two varsity members of the Mont Pleasant High school squad that Kingston whipped in the intersectional thriller two years ago—Ed Supronowicz and Mike Brownley—are on the varsity teams at Syracuse and Seton Hall. Golfdom's three greatest tests—the U. S. Open, PGA and Goodall Round-Robin will be contested in a three-week span this season. Capt. Tom Moroseau of West Point, who appeared before the K.A.A., is in Japan for a three week tour of duty. Lt. Doug Kenna, now a civilian, retains his post as assistant football coach at the Point.

Red Jones' resignation as an American League umpire to join a beer bottling firm in Detroit refutes the belief that all retired umpires automatically become Braille translators. . . . Eddie Erdelatz, the new Navy football coach, is a good fellow and fine coach but his name sounds like something you'd take to relieve over-acidity. Which is a possibility since the Midshipmen were supposed to be suffering from a Sauer stomach.

● Along Cauliflower Row:

If the above hasn't killed you, read on that the Kingston Athletic Association has invited Harry Markson, boxing director of the International Boxing Club, and Ruby Goldstein, "Referee of the Year" to the annual Hot Stove League dinner on Monday, Feb. 6. . . . Paul Simpson is a pro out in his home town of Cleveland but he isn't doing too well, Jim Hardy, the Canaan Killer, is now a professional undergoing a trial period under the hawk eyes of Al Weill, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, New York boxing writers refer to Jackie Keough, Cleveland's brilliant middleweight as "something out of the past." A superb boxer, Keough may come along fast in 1950. Rumor at the ringside Thursday night: The Berkshire School officials may retire Harry Smith, the little windmill. They think he has gone about as far as he will ever go. But, mind you, that's just a rumor. Libby Manzolillo's remarkable showings against Wee Willie Smith are even more impressive when you consider the vast difference in experience between the two.

Walt Thiel, who swapped jobs with Alex Gerlak, has been retained for 1950 by the Catskill Golf and Country Club.

Harvey Keyes of Kingston and Emanuel Vigilotti of Newburgh Free Academy have been given honorable mention on the third annual All American All Star football team selected by the Wigwam Wiseman of America of Oklahoma City. . . . Vivacious Pat Hagnauer is Poughkeepsie's leading woman bowler of the moment with a 171 average. . . . Al Crisci recently rocked a 727 triple in Newburgh. The all-time Hill City record of 749 is held by Pat Tarsio. . . . Maury McDermott Jr. has been voted the outstanding Dutchess county athlete of 1949. Come to think of it, can Ulster county match Dutchess' bumper crop of "name" athletes like McDermott, Ray Billows, Wes Westrum, Stan Bloomer?

As the young NFA girl student wrote to "Bo" Gill after Ed Gabron, varsity center, had been fired for smoking, "If the high school fired every athlete who smokes there wouldn't be any teams left . . . " How true, young lady!

KHS, NFA, Monties Locked in Triple Tie

First Round Hinges On Jan. 20 Games

DUSO League followers arose today to find the conference standings in a strange predicament.

They rubbed their eyes in amazement upon hearing that Kingston High doesn't have a stranglehold on first place, believe it or not!

Actually, there was a triple tie. Newburgh's 51-38 humbling of Kingston, combined with the Monticello's 55-41 conquest of Liberty, created the three-way deadlock and set the stage for one of the most interesting finishes in DUSO history. N.F.A., Kingston and Monticello each have four wins and a loss.

In final first round matches next Friday, Kingston and Newburgh both will be on the road, the Maroons in Liberty and the Academy in Port Jervis. Monticello seems in the best position with a home engagement against Middletown. Fallsburg has completed its first round two wins in six starts.

Blackie Kiarish led Fallsburg against the Middies with 17 points last night, while Bob Laskowitz tossed in 16. Bob Brown, Middie center, accounted for 18.

22-Point Fourth Period Breaks Game Apart; Tyler Is NFA Hero

Kingston High School's almost perpetual domination of Newburgh Free Academy in basketball in the municipal auditorium came to a crashing climax last night, when an inspired, resourceful Academy quintet humbled the Maroon, 51-38, for a brilliant victory that no doubt will rank as the most significant triumph in Newburgh history.

The N.F.A. victory, achieved by a furious 22-point finish in the fourth period, put an end to several winning streaks Kingston had compiled at the expense of the Hill City cagers.

According to best available information, the inspired performance by Dick Tyler, the N.F.A. one-man gang, and his teammates abruptly terminated such historical items as:

1. Kingston High's 25-game winning streak at home.
2. Wrote into the record books Newburgh's first victory over K.H.S. at the municipal auditorium since 1936.
3. Gave the Academy its first win over Kingston since 1945.

Tyler Scores 23

The veteran Tyler, who ranks among Newburgh's all-time athletic greats, engineered the fourth period offensive that broke the back of the ball game. He picked up 12 of his 23 points in those last eight minutes, was the key man on the floor and rebounded beautifully. When the pressure was on, the Maroons couldn't handle the Academians under the boards and the final margin of victory was something of a shocker when it is recalled that Kingston led until the last 5½ minutes of play.

Ronnie Scheffel and George Holstein shared 23 points for Kingston.

The unexpected Kingston setback threw the DUSO conference into a mad scramble, with the Maroons, Newburgh and Monticello deadlocked for first place with four wins and one loss each.

The change in fortune that was eventually to bring the Academians their long awaited, almost despaired of hour of victory, came with electrifying impact.

N.F.A. Comeback

With nearly 1800 spectators cheering madly on every pass, shot, and fumble, the Academians made their bid after Ronnie Scheffel's running jump shot sent Kingston ahead 24-15 to launch the third period. Pelin, Tyler and Chrystal rang up five points in a row to cut the Kingston margin to 24-22 and a substitute, Dick Spreer, furnished two pivotal baskets. Tyler's bank shot brought N.F.A. within a point, 30-29, but a pair of spectacular set shots by Ronnie Scheffel at the close of the third period appeared to put the Maroons out of danger for the time being at 34-29.

What happened in the fourth period is something Kingston fans would like to forget. While Tyler roamed the floor like a man inspired—doing everything a great center should do—the Academians rolled up 22 points against four for the Kissmen. Kingston's only basket came in the last few seconds when Beaumont tapped in a harmless followup.

A pair of baskets by Matt Chrystal and Tyler turned the tide for keeps early in the fourth quarter. Chrystal worked himself under for a sleeper and then poured through a driving layup. Tyler's set shot sent N.F.A. ahead for the first time during the game with 5:45 remaining. He tacked on a foul for 36-34 and from there on out it was a shambles.

Perhaps it's just as well for the Kinsmen that they made every mistake in the book last night. Although they led at the quarter just didn't have it when the Newburgh pressure began to unfold in the stretch drive. Moll Leonard, the Kingston center, had his worst night of the season but every player on the squad can take the responsibility for the loss. For the first time this season, the Maroon squad looked tight and tense and Newburgh virtually forced them to play their style of game. When the clubs resorted to speed and fast break, Newburgh had the weapons and Kingston didn't.

Deadline Sunday For K.B.A. Entries

The deadline for filing entries for the Kingston Bowling Association's city championships is Sunday, Jan. 15, at midnight.

Pete Keresman, tournament chairman, announced today that all entries in the mail before that time would be accepted.

Teams who expect to enter but for various reasons are unable to post entry fees before the deadline are asked to call Secretary Ray Cord for a provisional entry.

Snead Dominates Bing Crosby Golf

Pebble Beach, Calif., Jan. 14 (AP)—Slammin' Sam Snead, the long ball hitter, and Ben Hogan, the ex-champ who's coming back, were the big attractions today as play opened in the second round of the 54-hole Bing Crosby Invitational golf tournament.

A winter storm sweeping down from the northwest—the worst of the year—threatened to put a crimp in both play and the size of the crowds.

Cold rain today and Sunday, with winds 40 to 50 miles an hour this morning, was the forecast.

Hogan and Snead, two natural rivals, lured the crowds for different reasons this time. Snead led the field. Hogan was in the unfamiliar spot of trailing far back.

They tied this week for first place in Los Angeles Open and will play off the deadlock next Wednesday. Meanwhile, the battle shifted to this golfing capital, where Crooner Crosby annually puts on his $10,000 show.

Snead ran true to form in yesterday's opening round. In spite of cold weather and an annoying wind, the national P.G.A. title holder toured the Cypress Point course in 36-33—69. It gave him a one-stroke margin over his nearest rival, Newt Bassler of Carmel, Calif., as the field shifted today to the nearby Monterey peninsula course.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)
(By The Associated Press)

Palm Beach, Fla.—Lynn Creason of Harrisburg, Pa., former Pennsylvania amateur golf champion, won 44th annal Lake Worth golf tournament by defeating Reggie Boardman of Palm Beach, 6 and 5, in gruelling 36-hole final round.

New York—The Dad Vail Association said last night it would hold its annual regatta at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on May 20.

Waco, Texas—Sammy Baugh says he will stick to playing pro football, so you can now make your own guess as to who will be Baylor's new football coach. There are a dozen applicants.

New York—George D. Widener, of Philadelphia, has succeeded William Woodward as chairman of the Jockey Club.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla.—Twenty of the nation's leading sailing yacht skippers will test boats and skill on January 27 in the 54-nautical mile Fort Lauderdale to Cat Bay, Bahamas sailing race.

Gilligan Speaks Before Gun Club

Edmund Gilligan, Woodstock author and Rod and Gun editor of the New York Herald Tribune, will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club, Monday night at Jake's Grill.

Gilligan's column has appeared on the Tribune sports pages for the past couple of years.

Author of the novel "Gaunt Woman," he has been a lifelong devotee of hunting and fishing with emphasis on piscatorial pursuits. He has for years conducted a virtual one man campaign to restore the cod fishing industry in the Grand Banks area of New England.

Babe Ruth hit 40 or more home runs 11 times during his career.

Jayvees Drop First

Newburgh Cagers Score 55-42 Win

Kingston High School's Jayvees set the pattern for K.H.S.'s night of woe last night at the municipal auditorium by collapsing in the last five minutes of play against the N.F.A. Jayvees to suffer a 42-55 defeat—their first of the season.

With five minutes remaining, the Academians held a slim 42-40 lead and then things began to happen, Don Nerz and Ed Rightmire began to hit freely for Newburgh, while the Maroons accomplished the total of two points for the rest of the way.

The Maroons led 14-7 at the quarter and were in front 26-19 at the half. They lost Charlie Tiano, first string center, on fouls early in the third period and with other first stringers just hanging on, the tide of the battle changed. The N.F.A. margin of 36-16 in the second half told the story.

Nerz pumped in 23 points for the visitors and Rightmire accounted for 16. Leroy Hooker, Kingston's top scorer, led the locals with 13.

Portuguez Stops Young in Eighth

New York, Jan. 14 (AP)—Tuzo Portuguez and Paddy Young, a pair of swing-from-the-floor muscle men, are way out front in the early race for 1950 "fight of the year" honors.

The chunky Costa Rican belter and baby-faced Young from New York's Greenwich Village staged a Madison Square Garden battle last night that won't be forgotten for a long time.

Portuguez was the winner when Referee Eddie Joseph stopped it after 43 seconds of the eighth round because of a bad cut over Young's left eye. The arguments continued far into the night.

One thing is sure. Matchmaker Al Weill of the International Boxing Club has a whale of a rematch as soon as the two boys can be patched up.

"I'm working on it for February," said Weill.

First customers will come from the 10,024 who paid $29,014 to see last night's brawl. They all want to see more. They wanted to see more last night, too, and booed Referee Joseph. The more excitable fans pitched wadded newspapers into the ring.

Young was unhappy too. He tried to push off the ref and keep on fighting.

Strong at 158 pounds, or 11 more than he weighed when he edged Beau Jack in an indifferent performance, Dec. 16, Portuguez had to get off the floor to win.

Young, a terrific left hooker, dropped him for two in the third. He was hit hard with two left hooks. When Portuguez came up so quickly, it seemed he had made a mistake. But he was all right and able to fight back strong. Two or three other times Young rocked Tuzo to his heels but never enough to discourage him.

Recent discoveries indicate the blood is full of small clots which are normally absorbed but which may cause a serious condition if they are not.

Motorists Warned To Obtain Plates

With a little more than two weeks remaining before the January 31 deadline, Deputy County Clerk Edgar J. Dempsey reported today that 9,000 of the estimated 20,000 passenger vehicle license plates have been issued for 1950.

Dempsey warned motorists not to delay getting their 1950 registrations. While the Motor Vehicle Bureau office at 32 Main street has been doing a "steady" business the past week, lines of waiting motorists have not been as long as they are expected to be the last few days of the sale of new plates, he said.

Mail applications are being processed and all will be filled before the deadline, Dempsey said. He stated that several mail applications had to be returned for lack of signature, and that in several cases applicants had even neglected to sign the accompanying checks. He asked that these items not be overlooked, as the omission of the signature only causes further delay in receiving the license plates.

Retired Contractor Dies, His Body Found by Wife

Samuel A. Mills, 58, was found dead Friday night in the home at Lomontville where he and his wife planned to live in retirement.

Death was due to natural causes, Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson reported.

Mills, a retired electrical contractor who formerly conducted business from 317 East 35 Street, New York, was found on the kitchen floor of the Lomontville residence by his wife when she returned from New York Friday evening, Coroner Chipp said.

When Mills failed to meet Mrs. Mills in Kingston as scheduled, she engaged a taxicab to take her to Lomontville. Finding her husband on the floor, she called Dr. John H. MacDonald of Lomontville, who pronounced Mills dead and notified the sheriff's office at 8:50 p. m.

Coroner Chipp said Mrs. Mills, who also was employed in New York, planned to retire in about two weeks. They had purchased the Lomontville property three years ago and had been living there week-ends while planning to reside there permanently after her retirement, the coroner said.

Mills was a veteran of World War 2, having been discharged with the rank of master sergeant on July 9, 1945. He served with the 1934th Engineer Utility Company.

He was a member of the Town of Marbletown Post 1512, American Legion, a member of the Lomontville Fire Department and the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association. He was last seen alive Thursday night. Funeral arrangements will be announced.

Reports Car Theft

Frederick Eimist of 100 Hunter street reported to police at 9:15 a. m. today that his 1936 Chrysler Airflow sedan was stolen from in front of his home sometime last night. The automobile, worth about $250, had the license number 8D 35-16, police said. The year of the license was not noted, whether 1949 or 1950.

Richard T. Childs of Kew Gardens was in town Tuesday for the annual meeting of the Home National Bank.

There are indications that a distinct local need is to be met. It is announced that Leander J. For many years such a shop was conducted on Main street by Cornelius J. Burhans and later by Howard Kelder, both now deceased.

Friends of the Rev. Donald H. Spencer, pastor of the Webb Horton Memorial Presbyterian Church, Middletown, are pleased to learn that he was able to occupy the pulpit Sunday last. This was the first since he sustained a fracture of the skull in a fall on the ice near the church, Nov. 29.

According to Joseph Levine, president of the Chamber of Commerce, the organization expended approximately $50 in its Christmas program for making shopping "safer" for motorists who overlooked the little matter of tipping the parking meters during holiday shopping. The police deposited nickels in meters showing overtime violations, during that period—with approval of members of the village board.

Louis Tanenbaum, better known as the Ice Cream King, is scheduled to sail next Thursday, on the LaGuardia, for a three-months vacation in Israel. Mr. Hanenbaum has almost 100 messages to deliver to residents of that area—and is willing to deliver more, if those wishing to greet relatives and friends will let him know in time.

It was agreed that the village was not in position to meet $17,500 in notes due Feb. 1 and the board voted to renew the notes for a year. State Officer Is Main Speaker at Milk Council Party

Russel Fox of Albany, executive secretary of the New York State Milk Distributors Association, addressed the Kingston Milk Council at its annual dinner Wednesday night at the Hotel Stuyvesant, stating that "the days of short supply and lots of consumers is gone—now a large supply is creating surpluses with producers looking for markets and dealers looking for ways and means of selling fluid milk." He recommended affiliation with the "Milk for Health" promotional program to help increase sales, and remarked that the establishment of milk councils in various sections of the country have proved their ability to increase sales of fluid milk as demonstrated by the results produced by the state-wide dairy councils established in Connecticut.

The speaker urged local members to give close attention to legislation pertaining to milk and milk products, advising that minority groups are very vocal and putting on pressure in support of their legislative programs. He further remarked that with government regulating business it is up to everyone to take an active interest in what the government is doing. He particularly referred to three bills now before the state legislature permitting the sale of yellow colored oleo, and explained that in areas where the sale of yellow-colored oleo is permitted the price of oleo moves up in line with butter prices, thereby defeating the efforts of the housewife who wants a cheap substitute for butter. Milk dealers are joining other farm and agricultural organizations in protest against the passing of legislation permitting the sale of yellow-colored oleo, he pointed out.

The New York State Milk Dealers Association is now working on two legislative bills, he said, one concerning the definition of a store or retail outlet exempt from dealer's license in selling dairy products; the other omitting the necessity of having the monthly dealer's report notarized.

Recommendation of the State Dealers Association to local milk councils includes the establishment of a credit exchange and a public relation committee to promote better publicity, including a better understanding by newsmen and legislators of the milk industry, the speaker said.

Howard St. John, Kingston lawyer, as guest speaker, related many of his interesting experiences while serving in the India-China-Burma sector with the American Forces Radio Services during the last war.

George Silkworth, president of the Kingston Milk Council acted as master of ceremonies. He outlined the work done by the council during the past year and presented an outline of plans for the coming year, including participation of the local council in the "Milk for Health" program which has already gotten underway and is expected to be fully functioning in March. Several letters of thanks from 4-H boys and girls were read, showing their appreciation of the special awards made each year by the Kingston Milk Council to 4-H entrants who place at the Ulster County Fair.

Harry Edinger of the Ulster County Health Department spoke of the excellent cooperation of the milk dealers with the health department in maintaining a high standard of milk and the efforts being put forth to maintain disease-free herds.

Harry Snyder, former supervisor of the town of Marbletown and former member of the county health committee received praise for his past efforts and cooperation from both Harry Edinger and Frederick Costello of the Fordmore Dairies in Kerhonkson.

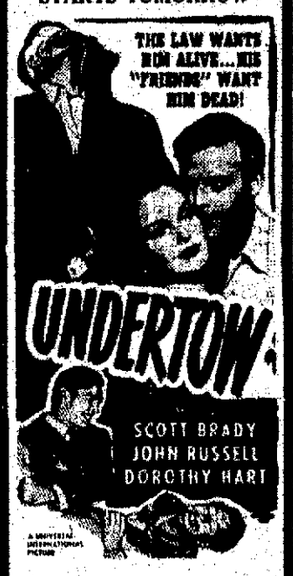

Mrs. Harry Carnright, secretary of the Kingston Milk Council, was presented with a gift from council members.

Randolph Winston and Austin Simmons were in charge of general arrangements for the dinner.

Announcement was made of a meeting of the council on Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Farm Bureau office, to elect officers for the year.

Man, 50 . . .

over me. I decided to end this once and for all.

"I picked up a hammer and struck her several times."

Then he heard his father coming back, and waited for him at the front door.

"I hit him a couple of times with the hammer. He fell, and I don't know how many times I hit him after that.

Police said the elder Leyra must have fought back because his false teeth were knocked out and his dead hand clenched a tuft of hair.

Police described these actions after the slaying:

Leyra washed his hands and the hammer. Outside, he threw the hammer into a passing truck and only then noticed blod on his clothes. He went to a girl friend's apartment, where he had stayed the night before, put on the new suit and gave the old one to a vagrant.

It being his wife's birthday, he bought her a box of candy, took it home to her, and reported back to work. He affected surprise when his father did not show up at the shop, went to the apartment with his partner, and called the police.

From the moment when he "discovered" his parents' bodies, Leyra was in police custody. They looked up his record of convictions for larceny, bigamy, and non-support over a 20-year- period, and kept asking him questions.

After the funeral Mass and burial, which police let him attend under escort, Dr. Max Helfand, a psychiatrist, took up the questioning, with his hands on Leyra's temples, the doctor talked low and smoothly about the case, Leyra cracked.

"I'm ready to talk," he said. "I'd like to speak to Capt. (John J.) Meenahan. He's been the nicest to me."

Large Tree Falls, Damages House at 88 Henry Street

A lage tree at the corner of Henry and Prospect streets fell about 11:25 a. m. today; damaging the side of a house at 88 Henry street, police reported.

Mrs John J. Booniger, a resident of the house, told The Freeman that the large tree, which she believed to be a maple, caused "quite a bit of damage." However, a complete survey of the damage had not been made and no estimate was given.

No one was injured, Mrs. Boeniger said. Cause of the tree's falling remained uncertain at noon today.

Salvage Is Begun

saved. Ten bodies have been picked up at sea. Some of the survivors estimated that as many as 40 of the 80 aboard spewed out through escape hatches into the icy waters. Many were known to have been swept away on the tide.

Divers and frogmen were trying to find the best way of raising the sunken submarine, holed so badly that it sank 60 seconds after its collision with the Swedish tanker Divina.

An Admiralty spokesman said the salvage might take days or months. It depends on whether the hulk will hold enough air to make it buoyant, or whether it must be lifted with pontoons.

Frogmen are expert swimmers who go down in black rubber suits with rubber fins attached. They carry portable oxygen machines and lights. Yesterday they tapped the outer hull of the sub but got no whisper or response from inside. Today they groped their way into the ship, then shot to the surface to report finding only tangled wreckage.

A naval board of inquiry held a brief secret session this morning to organize its investigation.

"We are still working on in spite of the official announcement that no hope can be entertained," a naval officer said.

He meant that salvage operations will not be slowed in any way because of the statement that no one still in the ship could be alive.

The 1,575-ton underseas raider lay 54 feet under the Thames estuary shipping channel some 15 miles east of the naval base here.

The Truculent went down within a minute after the little Divina sliced her bow in clear weather at 6:55 p. m. (1:55 p. m. E.S.T.) Thursday. She had 61 navy men and 18 dockyard workers aboard.

The Admiralty sent telegrams to the next of kin of the 10 dead and 55 missing. Their names are expected to be published tonight, 24 hours later.

Of the 15 rescued, five were on the conning tower when the blow came. The other 10 were within and bobbed to the surface through an escape hatch from the unflooded after third of the vessel.

Looking like men from Mars, globe-helmeted divers and rubber-suited "frog men" swimmers worked until dusk last night seeking signs of life aboard the Truculent.

Get No Reply

Divers tapped her hull with their iron boots. They exploded hand grenades in the water. They got no reply. Their effort to fix an air line into the hull failed.

Over night the wreck-lifting vessel Moor Fowl stood guard above the sunken submersible. Freighters bound for the port of London, some 50 miles west, passed with flags half mast.

Two questions which the board inquiry might take up were:

1. How the Divina happened to run afoul of the Truculent. Capt. Karl Hommerberg of the tanker could not explain. He told a reporter he and a local pilot both were on the bridge.

"It was dark but clear, and we saw the submarine ahead and give warning of our approach," he said.

2. Why so much time elapsed before the crash was reported—time during which many of those in the water might have been saved. The Admiralty got its first word of the disaster an hour and 20 minutes after it happened. It was a message from a Dutch vessel picked up by the North Foreland radio station and relayed to Chatham.

The Divina meanwhile was under arrest in Sheerness Harbor, detained pending the inquiry. Marine experts said if she were found to blame, her owners would be liable for the sub's loss and possibly for compensation to the dependents of the dead. Britain's law would limit this liability to 18 pounds sterling (about $59) a ton.

Sinking of the Truculent was the greatest peacetime British submarine disaster since the sinking of the submarine Thetis, in June 1939. That catastrophe in Liverpool Bay took 99 lives.

Fog Is Clearing . . .

ferryboats were bumping into each other as they groped slowly through the heavy mist.

Several persons suffered minor injuries when the ferry, "Gold Star Mother," rammed into the brick seawall at Governors Island in the harbor. Two other ferries were nicked by other craft.

An unidentified vessel grazed Ambrose Lightship at the harbor entrance, and then plowed on into the fog, her crew apparently unaware of the mishap. No one was hurt.

"The fog out there was like lumps cotton," a coast guardsman said.

Trans-Atlantic ships, plagued by winds and mountainous waves, crawled into port, one to four days late.

The thick fog brought a flock of thousands of starlings on buildings in lighted areas of the Bronx last night. Bird experts said the birds got lose in the fog and converged on the lights for sehlter.

Boy, 4, Ignites Paper; Firemen Extinguish Blaze

Fire which apparently started from a piece of paper ignited unintentionally by a four-year-old boy caused considerable smoke damage in the second floor living room of Silas Ellsworth at 38 Abeel street, the fire department reported.

Ellsworth's son, Silas, Jr., 4, told Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy that about 3:30 p. m. Friday he was playing with a piece of paper which ignited when he stuck it through the door of a coal-fired living room stove. He dropped the flaming paper to the floor, and it set fire to a couch, the boy said. Seeing the fire, he immediately ran to the basement and called his grandmother, who notified the fire department.

Firemen found it necessary to remove a section of baseboard in the living room to extinguish the fire, which had spread from the couch, Chief Murphy said. The fire was confined to the living room with the use of a hydrant stream after covers had been spread to protect the other furniture, firemen said.

Chief Murphy said there was considerable smoke damage in the apartment. There was also slight water damage in the first floor apartment occupied by Elizabeth Ellsworth, he said.

Immunity . . .

to keep th Communists from seizing the big island.

Brewster said it is important to have an administration promise that there will be no reprisals in case the joint chiefs differ with the President in this policy.

The Maine senator asked Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) of the foreign relations committee about that on the Senate floor yesterday.

Connally retorted he couldn't speak for the President. But he added: "If I were president and someone differed violently with me, he wouldn't be a subordinate very long."

Senator Morse (R.-Ore.) took issue with Brewster. He told a reporter: "I don't think a congressional committee should be used as a sanctuary in which officers can hide their insubordination."

Morse said the civilian head of a military department must consider the private views of an officer in determining if the man can be trusted in carrying out policy.

He argued that the civilian military leaders couldn't ignore an officer's private views just because they are given to a congressional committee.

Senator Bridges (R.-N. H.) led the assault by urging the government to "save Formosa from the Communists." He said this country must be prepared to use "bold methods" if necessary.

He did not define the methods, but he called the hands-off policy on Formosa another Munich and predicted that "another appeasement will eventuate in another war."

The Republican attack brought a sharp comeback from Connally. He challenged the G.O.P. critics of Mr. Truman's policy to make an open demand for the United States to send its own forces into Formosa.

"Why don't they say 'send an army on the march'?" he asked.

"No," Connally added. "They haven't got the nerve and courage to vote their convictions—if those are their convictions."

Earlier in the day, Secretary of State Acheson had gone before the Foreign Relations Committee to complete his review of U. S. foreign policy.

Connally gave reporters a brief outline of Acheson's discussion. He said the secretary told the committee: (1) The State Department is studying China's place on the United Nation's Security Council which is being claimed by the Chinese Communist regime; (2) U. S. relations with Latin America are greatly improved; and (3) the State Department believes South Korea could fight off an invasion from Communist-dominated North Korea unless "other influences" are brought to bear.

Two Are Indicted

New York, Jan. 14 (AP)—A dapper, $75-a-week salesman and his chubby wife today were under a manslaughter indictment charging they starved a three-year-old son to death. The young couple, Guy and Mary Scielzo, both 29, also were indicted on a second count, charging neglect of a four-year-old daughter, who narrowly escaped death by starvation. The son, Guy, Jr., died after his body wasted away to a mere 14 pounds. The little girl, Vincenza, now is recovering from malnutrition in a hospital. Authorities said mystery still shrouded the reason for the parents' alleged underfeeding of the pair, in contrast to the good care the couple provided for two other children.

Will Distribute Products

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—With more than $3,500,000,000 invested in surplus farm products, the government is planning to start giving away perishable items which might otherwise go to waste. The Agriculture Department said last night it is setting up a system for handing out the perishables. Under terms of the 1949 Farm Act they can be given to federal agencies, public and private relief agencies in this country and foreign relief organizations.

Stock Market Has Sharp Comeback

New York, Jan. 14 (AP)—The stock market made a strong comeback late yesterday after weathering a series of sharp drops earlier in the day.

Prices showed losses of a few cents to more than $1 a share. Gains were of equal size, but losses outnumbered gains by 2 to 1.

By closing time, however, the renewed strength had restored much of the decline. The Associated Press average of 60 stock lost 20 cents and closed at $71.70.

Volume of trading amounted to 3,330,000 shares, the highest since May 14, 1948, and moderately above Thursday's total of 2,970,000 shares.

The break in the market started late Thursday, and continued well into yesterday.

The rally was led by a recovery in the radio-television issues and the railroads—both of which had slumped under the earlier general selling pressure.

International Telephone & Telegraph, which owns Farnsworth Radio, was up $1.50 at $12.50; Radio Corp. gained 37 cents at $13.67; Admiral Corp. up $1.50 at $23.50; Emerson Radio up $1.67 at $19.67, and Montgomery Ward up $1.12 at $56.25.

Lower were General Motors, off $1.12 at $70; Coca-Cola off $3 at $161, and Kennecott Copper off $1 at $52.67.

Baby Sitter Held In Death of Boy

Torrington, Conn., Jan. 14 (AP)—A 'teen-age baby sitter has been arrested in the death of a two-year-old boy placed in her charge. Police Chief Hugh E. Meade said the baby sitter, Florence Michalak, 18, admitted she put a pillow over the child's face "to stop him from crying."

The baby sitter was booked on a charge of assault with intent to murder and held without bail for a coroner's inquest and a city court appearance next Friday.

The baby, William Joseph King, was found dead Thursday afternoon, and Florence was taken into custody that night in a movie theatre in Waterbury, 15 miles from here.

Florence was hired to care for baby William while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred H. King, were at work. Their eldest son, John, 11, came home from school and found the baby dead on a couch.

The cause of death was not immediately established. Dr. H. B. Hanchett, medical examiner, said an autopsy had been performed but was "not very revealing."

Two More Youths Held on Charges; Await Grand Jury

Two more arrests were made on third degree burglary charges Friday afternoon by County Investigator Clayton Vredenburg of the sheriff's office and Detective Clarence Brophy of the Kingston Police Department.

Betty Rose Van Vlierden, 22, of 79 Chambers street was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Percy Bush of the town of Ulster Friday afternoon, charged by Vredenburg with participation in the alleged burglary early last Sunday of the Hudson Valley Diner on the By-Pass. She waived examination and was ordered held for grand jury action.

Alfred Bell, 18, of 478 Broadway was arraigned in city court today on a charge by Detective Brophy that he participated in the alleged burglary on November 25 of a battery and gasoline from a truck in the McGill Estate, Inc. He waived examination and was also ordered held for grand jury action.
